

Environmental Management System Implementation

A 2-day course designed for anyone introducing and implementing an Environmental Management System.

This course will give delegates an introduction to the structure and content of an Environmental Management System and how it can be implemented and tailored to meet your business and legislative requirements.

Course Objectives

The learning objectives for the course are:

- Outline the structure and content of an Environmental Management System.
- Understand how you can use the Environmental Management System to help your business improve its environmental performance.
- Learn the principles and requirements of the ISO1400 standard.
- Understand how to develop a roadmap to achieve the ISO14001 standard and/or improving environmental performance.
- Understand how to review and better understand the environmental impact of your business and industry.

Who should attend?

The course is relevant to those responsible for leading and implementing an Environmental Management System with the view of achieving the ISO14001 standard and/or those involved in improving the environmental performance of an organisation.

In-house Training

This course can be tailored to meet your organisation's needs and held at your premises or an external venue. To ensure the course is the most appropriate fit for your organisation our team will work closely with you to align the course content with your improvement journey. Ideally this collaboration will be achieved by visiting your site in advance of the course.

Pre-Requisite

There are no pre-requisites for participating on this course.

Content Overview

- ✓ Introduction to Environmental Management Systems (ISO14001 and EMAS)
- ✓ Reviewing environmental aspects and impacts
- ✓ Performing an environmental review
- ✓ Producing an environmental policy
- ✓ Understanding regulatory and legislative issues
- ✓ Producing an action plan containing objectives and targets
- ✓ Developing and implementing an EMS

Taking steps to improve environmental performance is an opportunity to enhance your company's reputation, attract new customers, reduce costs and at the same time contribute to a better environment.